“We therefore grossly deceive ourselves in not allotting more time to the study of divine truths. It is not enough barely to believe them, and let our thoughts now and then glance upon them: that knowledge which shows us heaven, will not bring us to the possession of it, and will deserve punishments, not rewards, if it remain slight, weak, and superficial. By serious and frequent meditation it must be concocted, digested, and turned into the nourishment of our affections, before it can be powerful and operative enough to change them, and produce the necessary fruit in our lives. For this all the saints affected solitude and retreats from the noise and hurry of the world, as much as their circumstances allowed them.”

– St. Apollinaris

Greetings from the Parish Office!

This week's cover photo is the painting "Christ and the Canaanite Woman" by Juan De Flanders. It was finished around 1500. While it is not a painting found in our church, it is a piece of highly regarded art that can lift our minds and hearts to a joyful disposition, while bringing us to fruitful meditation on the Gospel. It reminds us that humility is the manifestation of grace in a person. God is pleased with a humble heart.

A reminder that we do offer the option to sign up for online giving on our webpage! www.stalswheeling.org

Amen
